LeadIQ | Run summary

LeadIQ trained five binary-classification candidates using random seed 42. The original stratified 80/20 split was preserved through structural cleaning, leaving 4422 training and 1101 held-out test rows. All learned transformations were fitted within training folds. Random Forest was selected by 3-fold training cross-validated average precision, then calibrated using isotonic. The decision threshold (0.3057) maximized F1 on out-of-fold calibrated training predictions. Held-out ROC-AUC was 0.4850, average precision (PR-AUC) 0.5002, and F1 0.6699. Confidence intervals used 1,000 bootstrap resamples. Lead Scores rank calibrated probabilities against the training probability distribution; they are not conversion probabilities. 1101 test records were scored. SHAP explains the underlying uncalibrated estimator, not causation. Dataset SHA-256: 0f03533183130aa6779114b4735b91ee1f533b7c7ccd601044e9a8414a94e630.
